

La Soumission Librement Consentie

Robert-Vincent Joule

La soumission librement consentie Robert-Vincent Joule, Jean-Léon Beauvois, 2010-01-06 Amener quelqu'un à faire en toute liberté ce qu'il doit faire est finalement moins compliqué qu'on ne le croit. Il existe aujourd'hui une somme impressionnante de connaissances scientifiques sur lesquelles on peut s'appuyer pour influencer les gens sans même qu'ils s'en rendent compte. Évidemment, cela s'appelle de la manipulation. Mais, qu'on le veuille ou non, la manipulation peut être mise au service des causes les plus sombres comme des causes les plus nobles. On peut par manipulation amener quelqu'un à s'aliéner dans une secte, comme on peut par manipulation amener quelqu'un à conduire plus prudemment, à dévorer les auteurs au programme du Bac, à s'investir dans le boulot, etc. Ces connaissances relèvent de la psychologie de l'engagement. Elles sont au cœur de ce livre qui illustre leurs applications dans des domaines aussi variés que la formation, la lutte contre les accidents de travail ou contre le Sida, le management, le marketing et même la thérapie.

Rationalisation et engagement dans la soumission librement consentie Robert-Vincent Joule, 1988

Psychologie de la persuasion et de l'engagement Fabien Girandola, 2003 La 4ème de couverture indique : «Que sait-on aujourd'hui sur la façon dont l'Être humain change ses opinions et ses comportements ? Comment les changer ? Cet ouvrage présente et illustre, en s'appuyant sur des expérimentations, les principales théories du changement dans les domaines de la persuasion et de l'engagement. Une nouvelle perspective est présentée en fin d'ouvrage : la communication engageante fruit du lien entre persuasion et engagement. L'ouvrage concerne principalement les étudiants et les praticiens de la recherche en sciences humaines et sociales, les formateurs et enseignants, les décideurs et consultants, ceux engagés dans la conduite du changement social.»

Engagement et représentations sociales dans le paradigme de la soumission librement consentie Chloé Eyssautier,2005
L'objectif de ce travail est de comprendre comment le pied-dans-la porte, une stratégie consistant à demander peu (acte préparatoire) pour obtenir davantage (Freedman et Fraser, 1966), pourrait gagner en efficacité. Pour ce faire, nous avons fait appel à plusieurs champs théoriques distincts notamment, la théorie du noyau central des représentations sociales (Abric, 1976) et, la théorie de l'engagement (Kiesler, 1971). Le but principal des recherches que nous avons réalisées est de déterminer quels sont les effets comportementaux et cognitifs de la réalisation d'un acte préparatoire ayant trait à un élément central ou périphérique d'une représentation sociale.

Soumission librement consentie Luminita Samson,2009 La procédure de toucher consiste à toucher le bras des sujets dont on sollicite le concours (Kleinke, 1977 ; pour revue, cf Guéguen, 2002). Vous êtes libre de... (VELD) consiste, quant à elle, à déclarer les sujets libres d'accepter ou de refuser de satisfaire à une requête (Guéguen & Pascual, 2000, 2005). Ces deux procédures de soumission librement consentie (Joule, 1986 ; Joule & Beauvois, 1998) permettent, prises isolément, d'augmenter la probabilité d'acceptation d'une requête cible. Premier objectif : étudier l'effet conjoint des procédures de toucher et de VELD, relativement à leur effet isolé (en France). Dans la littérature, les procédures de toucher et de VELD n'ont à notre connaissance jamais été étudiées conjointement et séparément, dans le cadre d'une même expérimentation. Quelques recherches mettent en évidence des taux d'acceptation plus élevés suite à l'utilisation de deux procédures, que suite à l'utilisation d'une seule. Par conséquent, nous supposons un taux d'acceptation plus élevé de la requête cible, suite à l'utilisation conjointe des procédures de toucher et de VELD, que suite à leur utilisation isolée. Deuxième objectif : étudier l'effet de ces procédures dans deux pays de l'Europe de l'Est (la Roumanie et la Russie). Les résultats montrent une plus grande efficacité des procédures de toucher et de VELD, lorsqu'elles sont utilisées conjointement plutôt qu'isolément en France, en Roumanie et en Russie. Par ailleurs, prise isolément, la procédure de toucher s'avère efficace tant en France, qu'en Roumanie et en Russie, tandis que, prise isolément, la procédure de VELD ne s'avère efficace qu'en France et qu'en Roumanie.

Embarrassment of Product Choices 1 Michel Millot,2018-10-08 When there are too many choices, there is no choice. The choices are entangled in a maze of rather confused possibilities. They go through many nebulous paths. Doubt, hesitation, indecision, become the only resolutions possible. Choosing is the anxiety of being wrong! The brand, the quality / price ratio, the aesthetics ... give confidence, but often with naivety! There is a gap between the reality of the qualities of the products and the perception of the customer. These are prejudices, illusions, a lack of knowledge ... Generally speaking, is the consumer-client able to appreciate, by sight, by touch, or even by a brief trial of operation, all the strengths and weaknesses? a lot of products? Market value dominates the use value. Marketing will discover that we must no longer confuse the consumer (the customer) and the user. The economic system only works because consumers are in the opacity of their choices. The search for technical prowess and above all market value has dominated the search for value in use.

Social Representations in the 'Social Arena' Annamaria Silvana de Rosa,2012-10-02 Social Representations in the 'Social Arena' presents key theoretical issues and extensive empirical research using different theoretical and methodological approaches to consider the value of social representation theory when social representations are examined in real world contexts. This comprehensive text brings together international experts to explore the relevance of a variety of applications of social representation theory in both institutional and organizational settings, and discusses how social representation theory compares with other constructs of social psychology. Areas covered include: justice leadership health and mental illness intergroup relations identity politics environment and tourism economics. This book will appeal to a range of academic researchers and practitioners from a variety of fields who are concerned with the application of social representation theory to various contexts as a heuristic tool for addressing and understanding relevant societal issues faced with 'social demand'.

Embarrassment of Product Choices 2 Michel Millot,2019-01-03 Product information is excessively commercial and technical. There is no single best product for all, and the price/quality ratio can be deceptive. Word of mouth is growing with opinions shared on the internet. This book calls for the reinvention of a new economy based on real requirements, not only for profit or "technology" but for qualities of use and the environment. A product's use is its purpose. An innovation must always be an improvement to qualities of use. The emergence of new technologies, such as connected objects and the autonomous car, form a new trap for innovation, and progress has been limited to the perfection of technique. Marketing must no longer confuse the consumer (the customer) and the user. Complete with methodology for the reader to follow, this book describes how the ecology of use can become the main wealth of an economy based on quality of life and well-being.

Traffic and Transport Psychology Geoffrey Underwood,2005-06-09 Just as our transport systems become more and more important to our economic and social well-being, so they become more and more crowded and more at risk from congestion, disruption, and collapse. Technology and engineering can provide part of the solution, but the complete solution will need to take account of the behaviour of the users of the transport networks. The role of psychologists in this is to understand how people make decisions about the alternative modes of transport and about the alternative routes to their destinations, to understand how novice and other vulnerable users can develop safe and effective behaviours, how competent users can operate within the transport system optimally and within their perceptual and cognitive limitations. The contributions to this volume address these issues of how the use of our transport systems can be improved by taking into account knowledge of the behaviour of the people who use the systems. Topics discussed include driver training and licensing, driver impairment, road user attitudes and behaviour, enforcement and behaviour change, driver support systems, and the psychology of mobility and transport mode choice. This work will be of value not only to psychologists but to all transport professionals interested in the application of psychology to traffic.

100 Key Concepts in Environmental Psychology Dorothee Marchand, Karine Weiss, Enric Pol, 2023-06-27 This accessible book defines 100 key concepts, ideas and processes in Environmental Psychology to provide an introductory reference work that brings together research and theory in a bite-size format. With contributions from leading figures within Environmental Psychology, each concept is clearly defined and explained within the context of issues around the environment, sustainability, climate change, nature and architecture. This book considers the involvement of psychological, physiological and social processes to understand the mechanisms that explain and contribute to the evolution of behavior and attitudes that relate to our relationship with the environment. Concepts covered include biodiversity, eco-anxiety, place identity, sustainable behaviour, climate justice and environmental attitudes. By integrating ideas from different disciplinary orientations in the field of Environmental Psychology, this book allows for a better understanding of the processes related to the individual-environment relationship, as well as the applications that they allow for in various fields of intervention. This is essential reading for students and researchers in Environmental Psychology, Sustainability Studies, Architecture and Built Environment Studies and related fields.

The M3C Model of Cooperative Contextual Change Biscaccianti, Williams, Esposito, 2011-05 Alessandro Biscaccianti, Mark Esposito, and Lloyd C. Williams have come together to write a modern new textbook on the theory of contextual change, presenting original ideas tested and ready to implement in their highly informative book, The M3C Model of Cooperative Contextual Change. The authors posit that to increase effectiveness of change, it's necessary to introduce dynamic stability into a system. The whole organization and each individual should have a sense of security, and M3C can become the vehicle for this change. One especially new element is the contextual drivership method, which integrates leadership and management into organizational practices and processes that assure opportunity and capacity for success among employees. So if you're ready to increase action coordination, proactively anticipate possible issues, enhance information sharing, and become willing to look for solutions instead of focusing on problems, pick up The M3C Model of Cooperative Contextual Change for some brand-new insight.

French and Other Perspectives in Praxiology Wojciech W. Gasparski, 2018-01-18 Volume 12 in this distinguished series explores current topics in praxiology as studied in France and elsewhere. As is characteristic of contemporary praxiology, contributors both investigate new topics and use new methods to re-examine older approaches. Part 1 is composed of three sections by French scholars. These deal with humans as a subject of action as well as a subject of knowledge. In respecting the particular domains of psychology and praxiology, they demonstrate how they converge to shed light on the human being as an individual or as part of a group. The first section discusses relations between individual action and collective action, while the second section is concerned with relations between the act, objects, and space, and explores work spaces, production spaces, office spaces, and social spaces. The third section examines relations between action and cognition, a domain considered to be little understood in general. Finally, the role of mathematics in decision-making is discussed as a determinate of the praxiological process. The second part is composed of contributions by scholars from Finland, Great Britain, Poland, Portugal, Spain, and the United States. The topics are: how praxiology helps economists understand cooperative actions and related issues of different responsibilities; how and to what an extent university education creates conditions for competitive advantage in the countries of Central and Eastern Europe and how problems of corporate governance are approached in the region; how innovation influences competence in the region of established economy in Spain; and how information systems constitute a multi-agent system. Finally, a formal analysis of praxiological dimensions in light of the fuzzy logic approach is discussed.

Communication et interculturalité : Cultures et interactions interpersonnelles FRAME Alexander, 2013-02-01 Sous l'influence de la mondialisation, les contacts entre cultures et l'hybridation culturelle ne cessent de croître, projetant l'interculturalité au centre de l'espace public. Alors que certaines approches exclusivement focalisées sur les différences culturelles décrivent comment se comporter auprès de groupes étrangers, Communication et interculturalité analyse la manière dont les individus s'adaptent en tenant compte des différentes cultures et identités (professionnelles, organisationnelles, ethniques, régionales, familiales, etc...) qui constituent des repères sémiotiques et symboliques pouvant être mis au service du sens. Il explore ainsi la relation entre cultures, identités et communication interpersonnelle pour comprendre les dynamiques de construction de sens qui émergent dans une interaction réelle. Destiné à un public scientifique mais également à toute personne qui s'interroge sur les relations entre cultures et communication, cet ouvrage développe une approche sémiopragmatique novatrice de la communication interculturelle, inscrite dans le champ naissant de la culture-interaction.

Power Olivier Dupont, 2019-04-09 A polymorphous concept, power has imposed itself since ancient times. Whether it characterizes the phenomena of domination, exclusion or voluntary submission, it illuminates social relations and, since the 20th Century, interpersonal relations. This book offers, first of all, a daring panorama through its intertwining of different theoretical propositions relating to power, across time and across disciplines. It then presents the work of researchers in information and communication sciences who draw from these proposals the materials allowing them to develop their own analyses. These analyses revisit discursive power with respect to contemporary formations of communication and information. They investigate digital technologies by problematizing the phenomena of influence, control and access to knowledge. Finally, they reflect on the media in the light of inherent powers of social mediation, advertising and journalism.

La communication organisationnelle en débat Collectif, Christian Le Moëne, 2001-01-20 Depuis une vingtaine d'années, on observe la montée en puissance de la communication interne et externe des organisations privées et publiques, en liaison notamment avec l'implantation croissante des technologies de l'information. En même temps, ce phénomène s'accompagne du développement important de l'ingénierie sociale, ce qui a pour effet d'accélérer la diffusion des innovations organisationnelles et de remettre en question les normes, les procédures, les dispositifs organisationnels ainsi que les relations de travail. Cette évolution du champ professionnel qui interroge nombre d'acteurs individuels et collectifs est désormais largement étudiée par les sciences humaines et sociales dans des perspectives tantôt disciplinaires (sociologie, gestion, économie, psychologie sociale ...), tantôt transversales. Cette livraison anniversaire de Sciences de la Société (numéro double) se propose de faire le point sur un certain nombre de débats nouveaux ou récurrents qui traversent ce champ scientifique en voie de constitution, et de présenter un état provisoire des recherches, des questionnements et des problématiques dans quelques domaines-clé de la communication organisationnelle.

Human and organizational factors of safety: state of the art François Daniellou, Marcel Simard, Ivan Boissière, 2011-01-03 This document provides a state of the art of knowledge concerning the human and organizational factors of industrial safety. It shows that integrating human factors in safety policy and practice requires that new knowledge from the social sciences (in particular ergonomics, psychology and sociology) be taken on board and linked to operational concerns.

Incentives and Environmental Policies Benjamin Ouvrard, Anne Stenger, 2019-03-04 The economic protection of the quality of the environment took shape properly in the middle of the 20th Century when various economic instruments were proposed to policymakers. Today, protecting the environment is essential, as evidenced in the rise in temperatures, the melting of the icecaps, the disappearance of animal species, etc. Moreover, with recent advances in other disciplines (notably in psychology), economists are turning more and more towards non-monetary forms of incentive. However, questions concerning the effectiveness of these forms arise. Incentives and Environmental Policies deals with the role of the economy in protecting the environment by revisiting traditional economic instruments and pursuing an advanced consideration of the role of new forms of incentive. It appears that, in order to strive towards the best possible environmental quality, policymakers will have to take into account the future of many combinations of socially acceptable incentives.
